

Prof. Andrea Raballo

Professor of Psychiatry, Università della Svizzera italiana (USI);
Director of Research and Academic Education, Cantonal Socio-Psychiatric Organization (OSC)

Andrea Raballo is a psychiatrist and Full Professor of Psychiatry at the Università della Svizzera italiana (USI), where he also chairs the department. He serves as Director of Research and Academic Education at the Cantonal Socio-Psychiatric Organization (OSC). His academic contributions extend to international collaboration, as a board member of IEPA – Early Intervention in Mental Health – and as co-chair of the European Psychiatric Association's section on the prevention of mental disorders.

His research lies at the intersection of phenomenology and developmental psychopathology, with a particular focus on vulnerability in childhood and adolescence, early intervention, and youth mental health. Integrating clinical expertise with translational approaches, his work aims to elucidate early pathways toward severe mental disorders.
