Prof. Marianna Purgato

Associate Professor in Applied Medical Technology and Methodology, Department of Neurosciences, University of Verona

Marianna Purgato is an Associate Professor at the University of Verona and a clinical psychologist at the University Hospital of Verona. Her research bridges global mental health, psychosocial interventions, and evidence-based medicine, with a strong focus on populations affected by humanitarian crises and low-resource settings.

She has served as an editor for several Cochrane groups and has authored more than 150 scientific publications, including in top-tier journals such as The Lancet. Her work has contributed to international guidelines and advanced the evidence base for community-level mental health interventions.

Prof. Purgato co-coordinates Cochrane Global Mental Health and has successfully led and participated in multiple European and global research initiatives. In 2024, she was named among the world's most highly cited researchers, becoming the youngest scientist at her institution to receive this recognition.
