

Sibylle Bracher

Program manager,
Bildungszentrum Gesundheit Zentralschweiz

Sibylle Bracher is a registered nurse with a postgraduate diploma in intensive care nursing and a Bachelor's degree in Nursing. She gained her first clinical experience at the University Hospital Zurich, caring for transplant patients, before working as a nurse in Australia. Back in Switzerland, she deepened her expertise in intensive care in Lucerne — particularly through her engagement with goals-of-care conversations and end-of-life support. Today, she serves as Programme Manager at Xund Bildung Zentralschweiz, where she leads the palliative care division and develops continuing education programmes across the health and care sector. She is also involved in the organisation of the Luzerner Fachtagung Palliative Care.
